

OWL BAT BAT OWL

by Marie-Louise Fitzpatrick

HC: 978-0-7636-9161-5

This poignant wordless book tells the story of two families who discover that they're more alike than they first thought.

Use Owl Bat Bat Owl to teach tolerance and respect of differences.

OWL BAT BAT OWL

- ◆ Make a list or diagram of the differences and likenesses between owls and bats.
- ◆ As a class, talk about what is happening on each page. What emotions are expressed on the characters' faces?
- ◆ Discuss why the mothers seem wary of each other at the beginning of the story and what happened to change the way they felt by the end.
- ◆ Talk about why it is unfair to judge someone by the way they look.
- ◆ Break the class into groups to write text for the story. Then have each group share with the class.
